GIL ROSE, CONDUCTOR

The release of In Medias Res represents a culmination of three years of collaboration between BMOP and Lisa Bielawa, Composer in Residence from 2006-2009. The double set of SACDs contains 15 Synopses which merge to form the spine of In Medias Res. Bielawa wrote pieces not only for the BMOP musicians—each Synopsis was premiered at her curated Club Concerts—but also unfinish'd, sent for soprano voice (performed by the composer) and Double Violin Concerto for Carla Kihlstedt and Colin Jacobsen. This record of the vivid connection between Lisa Bielawa and Gil Rose is a BMOP/sound classic.

FANFARE

"Under the baton of Gil Rose, the BMOP glows here."

NEWMUSICBOX

"BMOP is an orchestra that is doing things right, not only as evidenced by Bielawa's and the other recordings on the label, but also through serving as a model for fostering effective, enriching working relationships between contemporary composers and performers."

SEQUENZA21

"Like the major work of symphonic music that it is, it ranges over all the emotions, from rising excitement mounting to terror at the very opening, to sadness, pensiveness, hope, and even joyous affirmation. Add the glowing, luminous orchestration, revealing a composer who understands well the range and expressive capability of every instrument, and you have a concerto for orchestra that will stand up with the most distinguished achievements in this genre of the past hundred years. Seriously, I urge every aficionado of 20/21 music to give full attention to this rising star."

STEREOPHILE

"I have nothing but praise for all the performers, but wish to single out Gil Rose and his Boston Modern Orchestra Project for their efforts, and their ability to present new music to new ears. The sound, as on previous BMOP SACDs, has clarity, presence, and power, without artifice or excessive ambience."
